

About ConsultMyAgent.com

Building on decades of experience with marketing and communications in various industries, the ConsultMyAgent.com team wanted to utilize its talents to work with the everyday superstars and super brands that are all around us. CMA was formed with one goal in mind – providing personalized image solutions for everyday superstars and super brands™ worldwide.

We have developed a full-service virtual agency that is dedicated to world-class customer service, competitive pricing and – most importantly, results. We have worked for and also helped build a number of small companies, giving us a strong understanding of the importance of maximizing marketing dollars and meeting client expectations.

In a turbulent economy, marketing is one of the most important things to keep a company afloat; however, it is often first cut from the budget. It is our mission to not only help keep companies in business, but also to catapult them to the next level – all at a very affordable price.

Our clients worldwide receive the star treatment, with accessibility to the CMA staff 24 hours-a-day, seven days-a-week. We do not work with mega brands by design so we can give our clients the attention they deserve – regardless of size or budget.

For comprehensive marketing and communications projects, it is our policy to start with no more than a three-month contract, giving our clients the ability to assess our star treatment before committing to an extended contract. We are so confident you will be pleased with CMA results and world-class customer service; we trust you will be back for more.

We are a socially responsible company donating a percentage of all profits to charitable organizations. We also do our part to save trees by conducting all business electronically, unless otherwise requested by our client requests.

We appreciate your consideration and looking forward to providing a personalized image solution for you and your organization.
